STRESS CAN AGGRAVATE PEPTIC ULCER DISEASE (PUD) - DR. BASIRAT ADEYEMI

can counter the effect of these chemicals that is meant to protect the abdominal linings and stomach and these drugs such as Diclofenac, Ibuprofen, Aspirin can counter the effect of the chemicals that is meant to protect the abdominal lining and stomach.

According to Dr. Adeyemi, “the major cause of peptic ulcer is when the stomach is devoid of food for a long period of time because the stomach is designed in such a way that it produces some chemicals that aids digestion, so if there is no food, the stomach would digest itself and this would erode the surface of abdominal linings and inner stomach.

Dr. Basirat Adeyemi, the Acting Director Al-Hikmah University Health Service Unit, has made it known that stress is one of the factors that can trigger the pain of peptic ulcer.

Dr. Adeyemi stated that stress makes the body to release some hormones that affect the chemicals that is supposed to protect the abdominal linings and stomach from alteration and this could increase the pain of ulcer patients. She added that some drugs

She added “mortality rate of peptic ulcer is very low because peptic ulcer is not supposed to be complicated if it is well monitored. It can be cured but it is very difficult. It should be controlled first before cure and this can be done by taking certain drugs and controlling the food intake. If it is not well controlled, the stomach could erode itself and this erosion can cause a puncture in the stomach, which could lead to internal bleeding. The internal bleeding can eventually lead to death”.

Dr. Adeyemi, therefore, advised people to eat what is right, exercise their bodies, desist from self medication, do routine medical checkup and reduce their stress level in order to live a healthy life.

AL-HIKMAH GRADUATE WINS ZAMFARA STATE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY SEAT

My father too influenced my decision for going into politics because he is a business man and a politician. Although he is not the type that contest for political post, he supports credible candidates and I have really learnt a great deal from him.

“As an alumnus of Al-Hikmah University, I know what I have gained in terms of wisdom, knowledge and morality and that is why I would do everything within my power to liaise with the State Government to keep sending students to study in Al-Hikmah University. I would even extend the idea to other politicians and States that wish to sponsor people to send them to Al-Hikmah University because the institution is a centre of excellence in learning for wisdom and morality”, said Hon. Yakubu.

He, therefore, advised his fellow youths that aspire to run for any political post to always have it in mind that political post is to serve and not to loot money that belongs to the masses.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT IS NOT PECULIAR TO GENDER, CLASS OR STATUS - DR. HABIBAT KATIJI

The Permanent Secretary, Kwara State Ministry of Labour, Dr. Habibat Katiji, stated that sexual harassment or assault is common all over the world, but it is particularly common in developing countries and it is not restricted to a particular gender, class or status.

Dr. Katiji stated this while delivering her welcome address at the seminar organised by the Guidance and Counseling Unit of Al-hikmah University titled “Demeaning Challenges in Higher Institutions of Learning” on Tuesday, 2nd March, 2019 at the University Auditorium.

According to Dr. Katiji, “stalking, blowing of kisses, unsolicited personal gift, sexual jokes, touching of any part of the body can be called sexual harassment. Sexual assault encompasses a wide range of acts which includes organised rape, attempted rape, coercion, female genital mutilation, etc.

She added “sexual assault can result into physical, physiological and emotional distress which can affect the victim's academic performance and can also lead to suicidal tendencies. Apart from the disturbing effect on the individual, the incident could have negative consequence for the institution and when the media gets hold of such stories, it becomes a scandal”.

Dr. Katiji reiterated that the management should have a clear policy on sexual harassment especially the penalties and also create a channel where victims can report such cases anonymously.

She, therefore, commended the management for the mode of dressing in the school and for inculcating morals into students.

In a similar vein, another speaker, Dr. Yusuf Abdul-Hamid from the Religious Department, Faculty of Arts, University of Ilorin, while delivering his lecture “Islamic Implications of Sexual Harassment in an Academic Environment” stated that sexual harassment has affected our society since time immemorial.

According to Dr. Abdul-Hamid “sexual harassment is related to zina, which is one of the greatest sins in Islam and the penalty is 100 strokes of cane and the person would be exiled from the place he committed the crime, so as to serve as deterrent to others. The punishment can only be carried out after the crime had been established through pregnancy, confession of the culprit or four adult witnesses and the execution must be carried out in public. There is no doubt that if these punishments are implemented in any society, the crime of zina would be reduced to the barest minimum if not totally eradicated.

He however stated, “it is quite unfortunate that some people are kicking against the implementation of the sharia law which prescribes penalty against the crime of zina and other crimes like theft and banditry. They consider the penalty barbaric, inhumane and repugnant to natural justice”.

The speaker added that Islamic antidote to sexual harassment is holistic, proactive and this makes it effective to prevent the occurrence of zina in the society.

Dr. Abdul-Hamid, therefore, appealed to the University management to embark on sustainable campaign against sexual harassment within the University community in order to achieve a sane environment that is devoided of social ills.

Present at the seminar were: Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academics), Dr. L.F. Oladimeji; The registrar, (Dr.) Mrs. R.M. Oladimeji; Ag. Librarian, Alh. M. A. Raji; former Deputy Vice-Chancellor, Prof. G. A. Badmus; Dr. Kamoru Jimoh, Dr. D.I. Jimoh, Dr. Yahya Abdulbaqy, Dr. Yusuf Jemilat; Dr. Ganiyu Akashoro, Dr. O. R. Azeez, Dr. Abdulrahman Al-Iman, Deans, Heads of Departments, Directors of Centers and other staff of Al-Hikmah University.
